

AWAS expands relationship with customer Boliviana de Aviacion

Delivering additional long and medium haul aircraft to the Flag Carrier of Bolivia

Dublin, 3rd March 2016

AWAS announced today that they have leased an additional 767-300ER wide-body passenger aircraft to current customer Boliviana de Aviacion (BOA) to support their growing international service. AWAS also delivered a 737-700 narrow-body passenger aircraft on lease to BOA, helping the airline with their fleet modernisation plan. Both these aircraft come from AWAS' existing fleet.

This is AWAS' fourth 767-300ER delivery to BOA and the airline's first 767-300ER fitted with winglets for added payload-range capability and fuel burn improvement.

Ronald Casso, CEO of BOA said, "These aircraft support the successful growth of BOA, and mark our commitment to providing high quality air service to the Bolivian market. AWAS has been a key partner for us since our launch, assisting us with both our expansion and modernisation needs."

Marlin Dailey, Chief Commercial Officer of AWAS commented, "AWAS is extremely pleased to support BOA's continuing fleet requirements across the spectrum of long and medium-haul capabilities."
